

LA WEEKLY

Jesse Draxler at NO Gallery

ART GUIDE: SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7TH IN MID-CITY (AND ONE IN WEHO)

SHANA NYS DAMBROT x SEPTEMBER 4, 2019

South of Hollywood, north of Culver City, and west of West Adams is a stretch of galleries roughly along La Brea, and of course, many of them have their shows tonight too. A two-person show by Samuelle Richardson and Joy Ray explores unconventional narratives and symbol-rich abstract messages in textile-based works at Launch LA; Loft at Liz's hosts a pop-up of contemporary Japanese aesthetic optimism; and around the corner on Wilshire 1301PE shows fashion- and design-influenced supersaturated abstract pattern paintings by Judy Ledgerwood. Down by Highland, No Gallery and Kordanksy both get a bit dark, as the group show "Don't Just Do Something, Sit There" and the epically cheeky Tala Madani solo show, respectively, take a turn for the zesty worst of society. Meanwhile in near-ish West Hollywood, Eve Fowler's multimedia installation at Moran Moran interrogates feminist literature and linguistics.
